IN MEMORIAM

Ephraim C. Tyler

"Every man is a piece of the Continent; . . .
any man's death diminishes me."
might have been written specifically of Mr. Ephraim C. Tyler, shop teacher of Chartiers-Houston High School.

As is usual, not until he has gone, do we begin to appreciate what this competent, congenial, and humorous member of our staff has meant to all of us. In derision he often called himself a "glorified janitor" because he was in demand by all.

Unquestionably, during his eighteen years with our school, every area of the system has profited by his work. Nothing he was asked to do was ever beyond his resourcefulness nor beneath his consideration. Regardless of how busy he was, everyone's request was met with that infectious smile and the cheerful "What can I do for you?"

Words can never convey his worth to Chartiers, but his influence will go on as long as there remain those who knew him.

Faculty committees evaluated all areas of the school program, reported their findings to the central steering committee shown above, and then to the entire faculty. Evaluation Criteria, developed by the National Study of Secondary School Evaluation were used. A visiting committee, selected by Commission of Secondary Schools will provide a check on the self-evaluation, which will be used for accreditation.

PLAY THE GAME TO WIN

Ours is a land of great freedom and golden opportunity. To live in a land of free enterprise is a God-given privilege which is ours only in America. Among these privileges is the opportunity to secure an elementary and a high school education. Beyond this point lie college, university, technical school, and business training all of which are within the reach of practically all of us if we want them sincerely, and if we are willing to work and sacrifice to get them. Remember, we all have to give in order to get.

Ours is an age of evolution and change, an age when vast research and scientific development are making tremendous strides. The great mass of knowledge that has been already accumulated is beyond the human mind to envision. Predictions are that the next decade will see this storehouse double. For any one person to master all these facts is an impossibility, therefore, we are becoming a nation of specialists and experts. The young people of today must recognize the urgency of applying themselves to the task of securing the required training in school to meet the demands of an age of science and automation.

Since there will be little need in the future for non-skilled workers, it is the moral obligation and patriotic duty of each young person in the community and in this nation to begin now to train in one or more fields of service. Specific training is an absolute requirement if we expect to qualify for semi-skilled, skilled, and professional positions that will open up before us. In this highly competitive game are millions of other young folk striving for a place in a society which is moving with breathtaking rapidity into new technical fields. It is a hard fought game which requires the use of every ounce of talent and mental energy that is within us. Nothing else will do!

Whether we win or lose is entirely up to us individually. We said in the beginning that we live in a land of opportunity. Right here at Chartiers-Houston lies that opportunity. Here we decide whether we are going to get into the game and play it or whether we are going to sit in the cheering section. Right now we must decide which is more important, the pleasures of the present or success in the future! Will fourteen to twenty-one hours weekly watching T.V. or ten to fifteen hours per week practicing athletics prepare us to accept positions of responsibility and leadership in our national community? Or must we plan with determination a well-organized program of study and related readings to enable us to compete for those coveted positions which the future will offer us? Our answer will reflect whether or not we are really playing our game of life to win.

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

TO THE CLASS OF 1961

During the earlier years of the development of our great country our young people were advised by an educator and statesman, Horace Greeley, Go West young man, go West. New frontiers and opportunities were developing here and for those to whom the local community held little or no promise, the new frontiers of the West offered adventure and economic improvement.

Where are our new frontiers of today? Many new and exciting frontiers are being opened to those who are willing to make the effort to reach them. New frontiers in medicine, science, in the field of social relationships and understanding, and perhaps most exciting of all—space. But new frontiers are opened only by those who have the courage to make more than just an average effort. Opening these new frontiers involves creative imagination, and hard work. Most of the hard work will have to do with mental labor for the preparation of those who qualify for these new frontiers can come only through patient months and even years of hard study of some of that vast body of knowledge which has been opened to us during this present century.

Many will allow their opportunities to slip away saying that they have neither the time nor means for continued study. For most of you, time is one of your greatest assets. As some of you might say, it is what you have the most of. As to means, all you need to do is make a few inquiries. If you are made of the stuff it takes, the means can be found.

ALMA MATER

Oh to thee dear Alma Mater
Your song we proudly sing
And down your sacred halls
Our voices ever shall ring.
May we all sing loud her anthem
And proclaim abroad her fame
Maroon and gold thy colors bold
Ring out proud Chartiers name.
The days that hurry by whisper a lullaby
Of happy times amid thy hallowed walls
With voices that are heard fond memories are stirred
Of friendships true that live in memory.
And the pride and love within us
As time goes fleeting by
Grow strong and dear year after year
For Chartiers-Houston High.

Written by Robert Hissom and Mildred Cramer

The "Buccaneer," the C.H.H.S. school paper, is published monthly. Few realize the long hours of work involved in this production. At the end of each month, the editor hands out assignments to each reporter, giving him a week to meet the deadline. Typists then type the assignments in dummy copy form. After the editor completes the dummy copy (a rough draft of the final copy of the paper), the typing staff begins work on the mats. As the mats are finished artists' pencils busily design headings, cartoon characters, the cover, and calendar. Only after proofreading and corrections is the paper ready for press. The production staff then becomes responsible for the paper's printing, assembling, and distribution.

Staff members are selected from recommendations of the English and typing teachers.

A scholarship is awarded each year by the FTA Club to a deserving student who is going to college to become a teacher.

Your Future with Home Economics is designed to help them become more aware of the contributions of homemaking education in their lives. The Service to Others project was collecting toys at Christmas time for distribution through Family Unity.

"The Case of the Missing Heirs," a three-act mystery-comedy, was selected as the Junior Class Play. Gathered in the wind-swept, gloomy Castle Wentz were ten people to hear the reading of August Wentz's will. But amidst these mysterious surroundings are Bruiser Barnes, a prize fighter turned bodyguard, a scatterbrain Mrs. Beeman, and her giggling daugher Maybelle adding rib-cracking humor as the heirs disappear. Those left are shocked with strange sounds and the mysterious phantom, who haunts the old villa. However, Perriot Preston, famous mystery writer, his lovely secretary, Lawyer Graham and several others find the solution of "The Case of the Missing Heirs" to everyone's delight.

A three-act comedy drama "Melody Jones" was presented by the Senior Play Cast. The story took place in a small mid-western town; revolved around Melody, the kind of girl every girl wants to be. She was well liked by every boy, including Kenneth Carpenter, a walking authority on plant and animal life, and Gary Boyd, Melody's main interest, because something about her started him singing. Melody was the kind of girl that gave her family a joyful life. But all the joy went out of Melody and her family the evening of the surprise party when her cousin, Elaine, in a fit of jealousy told her she was adopted. The story ends in a happy note when Melody realized that being adopted wasn't such a terrible thing.

Chartiers-Houston High School was mighty proud of their section and regional baseball champs. The team suffered only one seasonal defeat at the hands of Washington High School. They defeated every other team in the section twice. With the section title in their pocket the team headed to Washington for a regional game with Bethel. They defeated Bethel and also McKees Rocks in a second regional game at Burgettstown. The Bucs met their regional defeat on the field at Burgettstown. In an extra-inning thriller the Bucs went down 4-1 to Aliquippa, just one game short of the W.P.I.A.L. championship games at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh.

Ed Macanga scores another run against Trinity as he comes into home base.

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

Success means doing, day by day,
The very best you can,
It's going on, yet taking time
To help your fellow man . . .
To make your mark, to reach your goal,
To take your rightful place.
To strive and strive and strive again,
Yet wear a smiling face . . .
To make the most of what you have,
To build and not to lean,
To take what happens with a heart
That's steadfast and serene . . .
It's knowing how to meet success,
To handle joy and sorrow,
Believing in your inmost heart
There's always a tomorrow!
It's keeping on when heart and soul
And courage seem to fail,
Convinced that faith and hope and WORK
Are certain to prevail!
